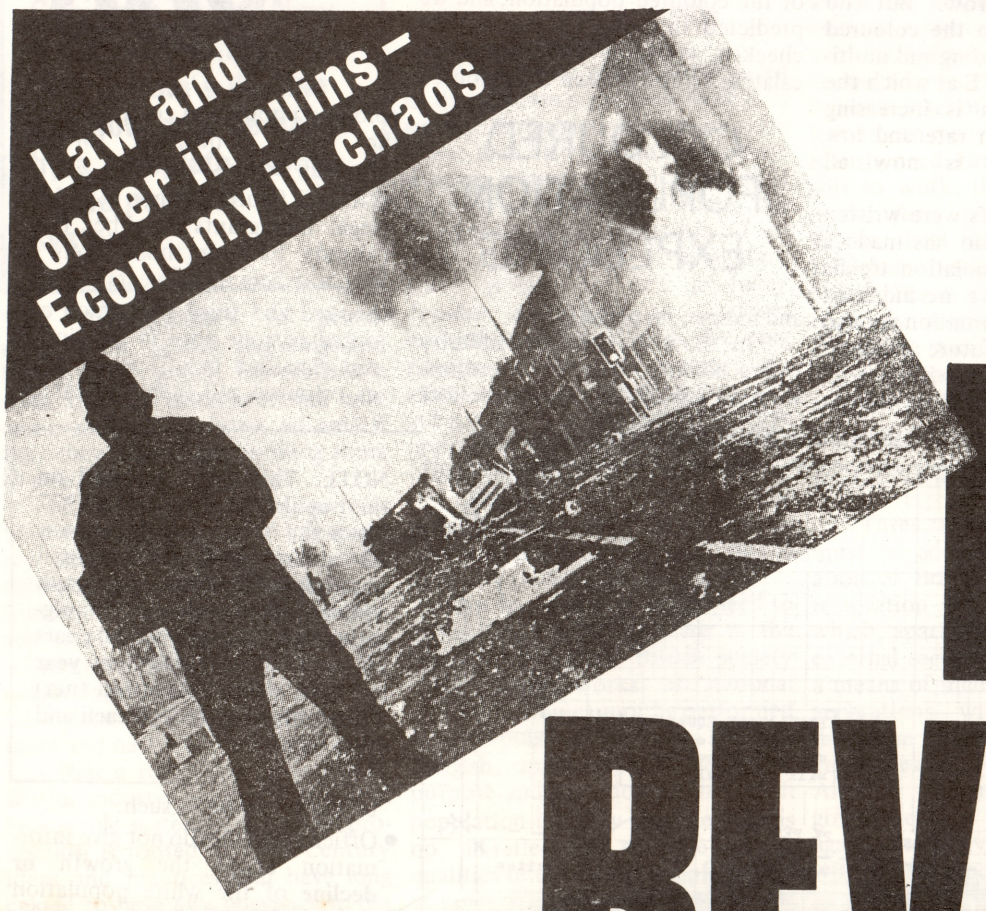
VOICE OF THE NEW NATIONAL FRONT



BRITAIN RIPE FOR REVOLUTION

Revolutionary change is certain to occur in Britain before very long. The only question to be decided is whether it is going to be brought about by the Extreme Left, importing the alien doctrines of Marx and Lenin and imprisoning the British people in an East European-style Soviet republic, or by the Radical Right, mobilising the stirring forces of British patriotism and naionalism in a programme of national renewal.

One thing is certain: the old system of liberal 'democracy', which has brought about chaos and disintegration to this country, is doomed to collapse. It cannot endure because it cannot cope with the series of escalating crises besetting the British economy and British society. We already have anarchy and civil war on the streets of most of our major towns and cities, and in the face of this deteriorating situation both the Government and the main parties of Opposition have run away like terrified rabbits instead of standing firm and dealing with the forces of anarchy with an iron hand. As a symptom of their running away, they are now busy appeasing the rioters of London, Liverpool and Manchester with offers of jobs and money when they should be cracking down on them and showing them that rioting doesn't pay.

On the economic front the same politicians have shown themselves impotent to cope with the mounting industrial catastrophe that is steadily ruining Britain. The out-of-work now number 3 million. Soon it will be 4 million. When will it stop?

The truth is that the little men and women of the old parties have lost control. Today they just go through the motions of governing, while the ship of state slides even further towards destruction.

The moment of final collapse of the system cannot long be delayed and should not indeed be resisted. Our task is not to revive the rotting corpse of the old liberal-democratic system but to ensure that the revolutionary order that replaces it is one that heralds, not the final twilight, but a new dawn.

ANYTHING FOR A QUIET LIFE

ELSEWHERE in this issue we yet again draw attention to the horrifying prospect that the rapidly expanding coloured population in Britain holds in store for us and our descendants. We make no apology for doing so; the natural increase of the coloured population is the greatest threat that the British people have ever faced. It cannot now be averted simply by stopping immigration.

Most readers of New Frontier are well aware of the threat, while some are already experiencing a foretaste of the coming calamity. Unfortunately, however, too many Britons prefer to ignore what is going on, to bury their heads in the sand, or to seek solace in such fantasies as Coronation Street, This is Your Life or Match of the Day – that is, until a brick or a petrol bomb comes through their front window.

But even our most TV-besotted compatriots must be beginning to doubt the integrity of the cohorts of pundits, party hacks, clergymen, do-gooders and professional protestors who have appeared on the screens in never ending succession ever since the first Brixton riot took place. Almost without exception, these people have claimed that the riots were not racial. They have dredged up all the excuses under the sun to account for, if not justify, these disgraceful events.

Fortunately, they cannot fool all of the people all of the time. The inept TV performances of Mrs. Thatcher and Messrs. Whitelaw and Raison during and after the riots have greatly worried many people, as our large postbag testifies.

This is not surprising: the spectacle of an immaculately coiffured and attired Mrs. Thatcher talking in the most unctuous tones about law and order to a gathering of farmers whilst the riots were at their height hardly inspired confidence, any more than did the preposterous appearance of Mr. Whitelaw pompously reaffirming the Government's "commitment to a multiracial Britain" or the sickening sight of a hesitant and inarticulate Mr. Raison being trounced by a vociferous half-caste. Such displays are more than most patriotic viewers can possibly endure.

For too long a majority of our people have opted for the quiet life. Happily there are now signs that they are beginning to open their eyes. Our greatest danger is that they will be so appalled by what they see that they will prefer to return to the escapism provided by the likes of Coronation Street. We must not let them.

'We're outbreeding you'

"WITH THE RIGHT PARTY in power coloured immigration could be stopped tomorrow. But no government can stop the coloured population from breeding and multiplying. It is the RATE at which the coloured population is increasing due to its high birth rate and low death rate which is now all important."

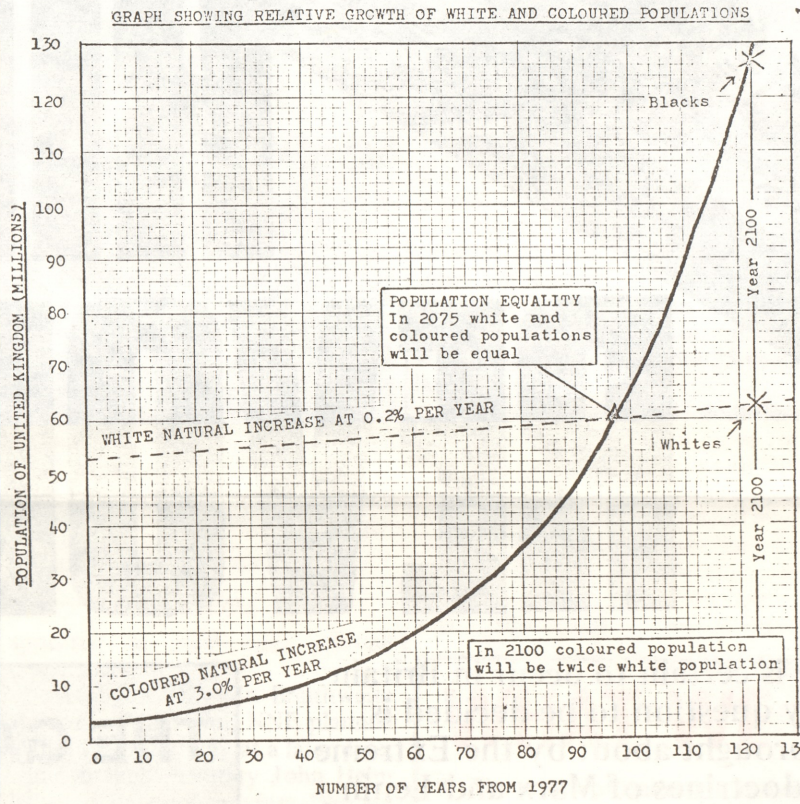
The above words were written by an informant who has made a special study of population trends in Britain. To him we are indebted for much of the information we will be using in this and future articles.

We entirely agree with our informant's assessment. Last March New Frontier drew attention to the dangers posed by the rapid growth of the coloured population; and we predicted that this growth, if unchecked, would inevitably lead to escalating strife between the coloured and indigenous populations.

COLOURED POPULATION EXPLODING

In those areas of our country where coloured people congregate, we have already had some foretaste of the havoc we may expect if the experiments in multiracialism are allowed to continue. Despite denials by senior politicians that the recent riots were in any way racial, it is evident to any thinking person that the one common denominator that linked the riots was the fact that they only occurred in areas containing large numbers of coloured people. It is also beyond dispute that the great majority of those who participated in the riots were coloured.

GRAPH SHOWING RELATIVE GROWTH OF WHITE AND COLOURED POPULATIONS



POPULATION OF UNITED KINGDOM (MILLIONS)
NUMBER OF YEARS FROM 1977
Blacks
Whites
Year 2100
Year 2100
POPULATION EQUALITY
In 2075 white and coloured populations will be equal
WHITE NATURAL INCREASE AT 0.2% PER YEAR
COLOURED NATURAL INCREASE AT 3.0% PER YEAR
In 2100 coloured population will be twice white population

NOTE: This graph is based on the population as it was in 1977 when the White population was 53 million and the coloured population 3 million. The graph assumes that coloured immigration will continue for 10 years up to 1987 at 40,000 per year and that White emigration (net) will continue at 35,000 each and every year.

HORRIFYING EVENTS

From these horrifying events it is clear that multiracialism does not work; but those who have foisted this evil policy on the long-suffering British people will never admit that they were wrong; to do so would be to acknowledge responsibility for the disaster they have unleashed on us.

New Frontier believes that the unabated growth of the coloured population in Britain is potentially so dangerous – for Whites and Blacks – that we make no apology for highlighting this subject again.

Information about the growth of the coloured population is hard to come by because it is now a taboo subject with government departments and the media. Nevertheless, our informant has painstakingly amassed a wealth of information from which it has been possible to project population trends well into the future. The results are truly alarming.

We stress that although our informant's projections are subject to error, as are all projections of this sort, he is much more likely to have underestimated rather than exaggerated the future size of the coloured population compared with the white population for the following reasons:–

- Official figures do not include illegal immigrants – either those already here or those likely to to come here in the years ahead.
- Second and third generation coloured persons born in Britain are not classified in official statistics as coloured and therefore cannot be distinguished as such.
- Official statistics do not give information about the growth or decline of the white population and so these figures have to be

YOUR LETTERS

Sir,–I recently read reports of a speech made in Liverpool by Mr. Tony Cliff (real name Ygael Gluckstein) of the Socialist Workers' Party in which he was alleged to have said: "The riots and looting have been fantastic, but they have not gone far enough." He goes on to suggest that the SWP should coordinate future riots and urge rioters to attack factories rather than shops. These remarks must be regarded with horror by all decent people.

Why is it that alien troublemakers like Mr. Cliff are still at large in our country? If the report of the speech is accurate he should be deported or put behind bars for a very long time. And the SWP should be banned as a dangerously subversive organisation.

David R. Jones,
Liverpool.

Sir,–How refreshing to read your July editorial about the activities of the nuclear disarmers. You certainly have rumbled the Reds and the way they are misguided pacifists. What's more, you've highlighted their activities in a way that's a joy to read. Keep it up!

Wing Commander AFC, MBE,
Royal Air Force,
West Germany.

Sir,–I read with interest your article on National Service in the June issue. I entirely agree with you that the main objective of National Service should be to provide trained men for the defence of the Nation.

One aspect of National Service that requires discussion is its duration. In my days it was two years, which is far too long. I believe that an acceptable standard of fighting efficiency could be obtained in six months if an intensive and imaginative training programme were adopted.

I served as a regular officer during the days of National Service and trained many young conscripts on all types of weapons, including guided missiles. I discovered that conscripts were able to absorb a great deal of knowledge during a few well-planned months of training.

However, if National Service is to be restored, it must concentrate solely on essential military requirements and character building, and not on spit and polish methods, which only induce boredom and discontent.

A revival of National Service would provide us with a substantial number of well-trained men who could form the basis of our reserve forces in time of war. I also believe that a short spell in the armed forces would be of immense benefit to our young men.

NEWS ROUND-UP

THE OPEN UNIVERSITY'S Urban Research Group has been given a grant of £11,500 to carry out a survey to determine whether poor housing of immigrants has contributed to their involvement in the recent riots. The grant, which is backed by the Social Science Research Council, will be used for paying researchers to interview 600 householders in an area of Bedford where a third of the inhabitants are of West Indian, Indian and Italian origin.

THE ASIAN mayor of Brent, Karamat Hussain, has been accused by Conservative councillors of lying when he claimed that his mayoress, Dr. Firdhaus Hussain, was his daughter. A local newspaper has published a copy of Mr. Hussain's marriage certificate, which shows that prior to his marriage in 1961 Mr. Hussain was a bachelor. Dr. Firdhaus Hussain, who came to Britain in 1979, is a woman in her thirties and the Conservatives allege that she could not be Mr. Hussain's daughter by marriage. One Brent councillor has asked the Home Office to investigate whether the immigration rules may have been breached. The Home Office replied: "This is not a matter which involves us in any way."

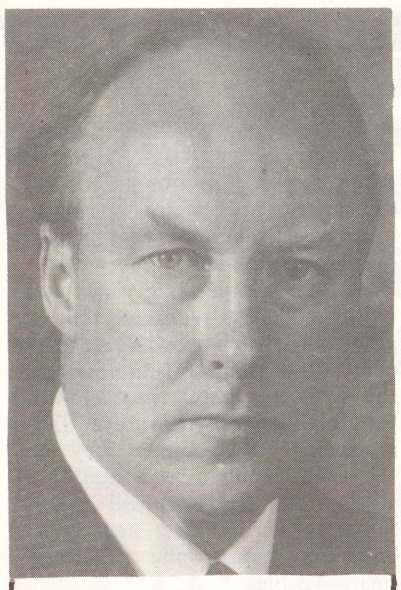
Before the case, banner-waving supporters of the defendants staged a protest outside the court. They want the charges dropped.

WHY WE NEED A REVOLUTION IN BRITAIN



JOHN TYNDALL, Chairman of the New National Front, says that Britain's decline can now only be halted by a complete change in the political system.

THE BREAKDOWN of British society, the British economy and British body politic has reached a stage at which restoration can only come through measures so radical that they amount to nothing short of a revolution.

Not a revolution along the lines that we witness regularly in banana republics, with the government overthrown by an armed coup d'etat – that is unlikely to happen in this or any other advanced Western country – but a revolution nonetheless in the degree of sweeping reforms that must take place in our system of government and national institutions.

That a revolution is needed in British industry is hardly disputed. Our whole system of industrial production is rooted in 19th Century ideas and practices that have long ceased to have any relevance to the modern world. The same is true of our system of industrial relations – designed for an age when all power lay with capital and when labour was a cheap commodity liable to exploitation under the most inhuman conditions – but quite useless for achieving the partnership between workers and management that is needed in the 1980s. Britain now needs to revolutionise her industrial life as fundamentally as she did in the first industrial revolution, which she led in the 18th and 19th Centuries.

SYSTEM ANTIQUATED

What is less widely appreciated is that Britain's political system is equally antiquated, and that a revolution in industry is quite impossible without a revolution in politics. If industry is to be revolutionised, this requires political leadership of an order that the old parliamentary party system has not in many decades been able to produce: leadership endowed with sweeping powers to undertake a transformation of our whole economic and industrial life in the face of massive opposition from the myriad of vested interests that are certain to resist change. Only a revolutionary style of government comprised of men with a revolutionary outlook is adequate to this task.

No less urgent than the need to transform British industry is the need to transform British society itself. Great works of national reconstruction cannot be performed by a population that is as divided, sluggish, apathetic and lacking in purpose and direction as the British population has now become. This is no ill-reflection on the latent qualities of the British people, which in times of great national emergency have proved second to none in the world; it is merely an acknowledgement that such qualities, to come to the surface, must first be stimulated by a true awareness of crisis and then mobilised and organised under powerful leadership which personifies, not any narrow sectional or party interest, but the soul and will of a united and resurgent nation.

Lacking any such leadership for the whole of the 20th Century – except in the brief interludes of wartime – the British people have in large part failed for a long time to summon the national qualities of which we know they are capable, and it is correct today to ascribe our national failures as much to shortcomings in the national character as to weaknesses of government. Before Britain can recover as a nation, many British need first to recover their will to work, their sense of teamwork, their physical fitness and health, their respect for authority and their simple civic and national pride. These qualities have been tragically eroded in a climate of liberalism which places excessive emphasis on individual 'rights' and in which citizens' duty has no place.

REGENERATION

Three measures in particular must be adopted for the regeneration of British society. One is the restoration of National Service, which, apart from being vital to our external security, is equally vital as a means of inculcating our younger generations with the values of discipline which will stand them in good stead for their whole lives. Another measure needed is for government to take ruthless action against the many subversive elements within our society which, under protection of bogus political 'freedoms', are working night and day to tear Britain apart. Linked to this is a third measure, which is to take steps to prevent the powerful communications media of press, publishing and broadcasting being used to undermine patriotism, national loyalty and every other national quality needed for the recovery of Britain.

In the urgent task of restoring national unity, one factor that cannot be ignored is the need to restore the racial homogeneity of the British population. This is going to require a programme of compulsory resettlement of the large numbers of Black and Asian people now resident in this country. Such a programme should be promoted with the greatest possible humanity but it also needs to be carried out with thoroughness and firmness. Here again, as with industrial reforms massive opposition from certain sectional interests is bound to be encountered. Quite clearly, only a government with revolutionary powers and a revolutionary will is going to be equipped to do all that is necessary to carry out such a programme effectively.

Until this need for revolutionary change is accepted and acted upon, Britain is certain to continue sliding into ever deeper decline, decadence and anarchy, with the wheels of industry grinding increasingly to a standstill and riots, crime and violence dominating the streets of our cities and towns.

Indeed the quite pathetic lack of resolution shown by the present Government in the face of the widespread rioting, looting and arson that took place in July demonstrated Government's lack of strength and ruthlessness resulted in riots getting out of control.

COMMON MARKET COMMENT

EURO-INITIATIVES

WHEN the politicians were bamboozling the British people into accepting membership of the EEC, no mention was made that it would become a sort of mini-United Nations whose role, far from concentrating on economic matters relating to member states, would also extend to political disputes in remote corners of the world.

Events during recent months indicate that the EEC is becoming involved in disputes in Afghanistan, the Middle East and Poland, and the trend is likely to continue – judging by the numerous visits by EEC personnel to such far-away places as Japan, the Caribbean and South America.

This trend seems to have escalated with the appointment of Lord Carrington as president of the EEC's Council of Ministers. Carrington, who was chief architect of the disgraceful Rhodesian sell-out, is widely regarded as being responsible for the EEC's so-called 'Afghan initiative' whereby an international conference was to have been convened under the auspices of the EEC to discuss the Soviet Union's occupation of Afghanistan.

The Russians naturally demurred, whereupon the egregious Carrington pompously announced that while the EEC was prepared to make some changes to its proposals, it could not "accept any amendment of its principles" – as if the Russians cared a hoot for the EEC or its principles! Indeed, Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko told Lord Carrington that the EEC proposals were "unrealistic" – which is the Russian way of politely saying "mind your own business!"

Not long after these events the EEC, again under Lord Carrington's tutelage, decided to put an end to the Arab-Israeli conflict! Having decided that the Camp David accords agreed between Presidents Carter and Sadat and Prime Minister Begin were unworkable, the EEC launched a 'Middle East initiative'. A secret document – subsequently leaked to the press – which, among other things, called for Israeli withdrawal from Arab territories captured during the 1967 Six Day War, was approved by nine EEC Heads of State. Quite naturally, Israel's trigger-happy Menachem Begin did not think very highly of the 'initiative', and he made his displeasure felt by launching more brutal attacks on Arab territories.

Lord Carrington's enthusiasm for 'initiatives' does not seem to have suffered from these rebuffs; for it is reliably reported that he will soon be launching his 'Polish initiative' to persuade the Russians not to be beastly to the Poles!

The increasing EEC involvement in non-EEC affairs confirms what many of us were saying long before Britain became entangled with the EEC: namely, that far from being the purely economic entity that it claims to be, the EEC is in fact an enormously powerful political grouping which is part of the conspiracy ardently supported by those internationalists who are intent upon establishing a New World Order.

TALKING POINTS

by FRONTIERSMAN

FARCICAL

The media predictably made much about Mrs. Thatcher's condescending visit to the farce Anyone for Denis? at the Whitehall Theatre. I really don't know what all the fuss is about as no theatrical farce could be more farcical than the real-life farce Mrs. Thatcher has been presiding over for the past two years!

ROYAL NUPTIALS

All readers of New Frontier will join me in wishing Prince Charles and his Bride every happiness. Though on occasion I have not hesitated to criticise Prince Charles and other members of the Royal Family, mainly for pandering to the more fashionable isms of the moment, such as internationalism and multiracialism, I have always been at pains to stress that the real culprits are those who advise the Royal Family rather than the Family itself. In any event, I am delighted that in the end Prince Charles chose a British girl in preference to any of the dusky-hued maidens the multiracialists had lined up for him. Although I am an ardent Royalist, the possibility of one day having a half-caste on the Throne would stretch my loyalty just a little too far!

KILL-JOYS

In contrast to the splendour of the Royal Wedding, the activities of such people as Ken Livingstone, the GLC's Marxist chairman, and the twerps of the Socialist Workers' (?) Party, who saw fit to use the occasion to mount a demonstration in support of the IRA hunger strikers, was a complete and utter flop. The surly behaviour of these kill-joys of the Left was to little avail: the black balloons and flags flying over County Hall went unnoticed amidst the myriad of Union Jacks and the miles of red, white and blue bunting.

TRAGEDY AND HOPE

Hope springs eternally in the human heart, so I was delighted to read in an article by Hon. O. G. Allanson-Winn in July's Spearhead that Carroll Quigley's all-revealing book about the one-world conspiracy, Tragedy and Hope, fetches around 300 dollars in the United States. By good fortune I managed to pick up a first edition copy of the book in pristine condition for £1 in an Aylesbury second-hand bookshop some four years ago. With the book containing more than 1,300 pages, I haven't yet finished reading it, but it seems it was an investment. Let's hope that more of these international conspirators take up writing. It seems that there is a fortune to be made!

Europe, told news reporters that the result of the election was "by far my gweatest victowy." By his standards it probably was. After all, he was a disastrous Chancellor of the Exchequer and an even worse Home Secretary. Come to think of it, he was never much of a success at anything – except, of course, making money for Woy!

ACT OF BETRAYAL?

As a long time admirer of those splendid and hardy British folk of the Falkland Islands, it is with dismay that I learned of the Government's decision to withdraw the Royal Navy's patrol ship, Endurance, from the islands next year. Endurance watches over British interests in the Falklands and the British Antarctic Territory.

Although it is well known that there are substantial undersea oil deposits around the islands, the Government will not allocate any aid to enable the islanders (and Britain) to benefit from the oil, or the high-protein krill which lives in the surrounding waters, for fear of upsetting the Argentine Government which, without any grounds whatsoever, lays claim to the islands.

The 2,500 islanders, who are almost entirely of British descent, will doubtless regard the removal of the Endurance as yet another step taken by a pusillanimous British Government eager to rid itself of another remnant of the Empire. In view of the secrecy surrounding the talks that have been taking place between the British and Argentine governments for at least four years, can we blame the Falklanders for suspecting that they are soon to become the victims of an act of betrayal?

SWINGING THE LEAD

One of the more fanciful theories to explain away black people's propensity for rioting has been discovered by Derek Bryce-Smith, professor of organic chemistry at Reading University. According to the good Professor, dark skins are more susceptible to lead poisoning than are white skins, and since the presence of high levels of lead in the human body causes aggressive behaviour, it follows that Blacks are more prone to riot than Whites. QED! But in view of the fact that so many of the Professor's fellow academics assure us that racial differences are only skin deep, perhaps he will be good enough to let me know why it is that Blacks are so much more adversely affected by lead than are Whites.

NNF applies to march in Toxteth

THE NEW NATIONAL Front has formally placed an application before Merseyside Police for a march through Toxteth, Liverpool, on Saturday, September 19th. The theme of the march will be: "Support the police against the rioters."

This application was decided upon following the disgraceful events of Saturday, August 15th, when a march held by the Liverpool Eight Defence Committee was permitted to proceed through Toxteth and resulted in 16 policemen being injured, some of them seriously. The Chief Constable of Merseyside had ample reason to anticipate that this march would result in serious breaches of the peace, yet he made no application to the Home Secretary to have it banned – despite the urging of a local Tory MP that he should do so.

It is quite clear that this failure of duty by the Chief Constable was prompted by his policy of trying to appease the local Blacks, and it indicates a discriminatory policy on the part of heads of police (unsupported, we are sure, by the bulk of their men) whereby bans are placed on Whites marching but not on Blacks.

The purpose of the NNF application is to place the Chief Constable in the position where, by asking for a ban on our own march, he is exposing his policy of discrimination in favour of Black marchers by not seeking a similar ban on the march on August 15th.

HULL ACTIVISTS CHALLENGE C.N.D.

HULL BRANCH of the New National Front, supported by members from Grimsby and Gateshead, recently held a rally in the city in protest against the activities of the Marxist-led nuclear disarmament groups operating in the area. The theme of the rally was: "NO TO NUCLEAR DISARMAMENT: DISARM THE SOVIET UNION NOT BRITAIN."

It was planned to hold the rally in St. Stephen's Square, but this was not possible because members of the local Trades Council occupied the Square before the rally was due to start and police refused to let NNF members into the Square.

This setback did not deter the Hull stalwarts. Led by local organiser Tony Braithwaite, they held the rally at an alternative location, much to the annoyance of the Reds. Despite the difficulties of changing the venue at such short notice, the rally succeeded in attracting a great deal of publicity. Mr. Braithwaite was interviewed by Radio Humberside and reports appeared in local and national newspapers.

After the rally Mr. Braithwaite announced that Hull NNF planned to hold another rally at a later date, while branch secretary John Helm issued a statement saying: "We are determined to expose the evil Marxist influence behind this disarmament movement, and it will take more than the tin pot commissars of the Trades Council to stop us."

more clearly than anything so far that Britain is getting out of control and that only political leadership of a revolutionary type can now bring order to our divided and strife-torn country.

The proposals that I have made here will undoubtedly be greeted by our opponents with the cry that they amount to 'fascism'. To condemn them with such labels is of course so much easier than answering them by constructive argument. My reply to these critics is that whatever words of abuse they may use such words will cause us no loss of sleep. The revolution that we work to bring about will be a British one and not one that apes the models of Italian or German revolutions of a bygone age. On the other hand, reforms that have been put into practice in other countries in the past, which have brought untold benefits to those countries in terms of increased national strength and prosperity to their peoples and which are practical in their application to the needs of contemporary Britain will not be rejected merely because they have earned the epithet 'fascist'. We must take what is suitable and reject what is unsuitable from the experiences of other countries, and to this we must harness what is best in the long history and tradition of our own country. Out of these ingredients the future British revolution will come.

Whether this revolution will come soon, or whether it will take many years of sustained work and struggle, it represents to us the vision of a grander Britain of the future which is worthy of the dedication of our whole lives.

New Frontier, though it believes in racial differences, opposes race-hatred. All those who oppose multi-racialism should attack the politicians who promote it, not the immigrants, who are merely its victims.

deduced. This officially-approved dearth of information makes it difficult to monitor the relative growths of the white and coloured populations.

The most important factor to be borne in mind when considering the growth of populations is the natural increase. Natural increase is defined as: "The excess of births over deaths in a year expressed as a percentage of the population at the start of the year." (Readers will note that this definition excludes any increase due to immigration.)

The natural increase of the coloured population for the year ending June 1979 was a staggering 3.1 per-cent, while that of the white population was in fact a decrease of 0.03 per-cent. During the 13 years from 1967 to 1979 the average natural increase for the coloured population was 3.47 per-cent and that of the white population was 0.24 per-cent.

EXPLOSION

Now since any natural increase in excess of about 1.5 per-cent is regarded by demographers as an 'explosion', it is evident that the present coloured natural increase of more than 3 per-cent is bound to create an explosive situation – a situation which has now been with us for some years.

Some idea of what is in store for us and our descendants can be seen from the accompanying projection graph. The graph assumes that the white natural increase will remain at 0.2 per-cent per year and the coloured natural increase at 3.0 per-cent per year. If these assumptions are correct, the two populations will be equal in the year 2075, and Coloureds will outnumber Whites by two to one only 25 years later!

Some people will doubtless argue that as the growth curve for coloured people rises exponentially, the indications are that the population will rise to astronomical proportions and this could not happen in practice. This is perfectly true. Long before the population rose to such proportions it would have been decimated by famine, disease or, more likely, civil war. But this argument only reinforces our contention that the coloured population must be curbed long before disaster occurs.

It is imperative that our national leaders recognise that the enormously high growth rate of the coloured population is undoubtedly the most dangerous problem that the British people have ever faced in peace or war. Unless they deal with the problem as a matter of urgency the outcome will become catastrophic. The first signs of the impending catastrophe are already clearly visible.

The only solution to this impending disaster is the immediate cessation of immigration and prompt implementation of a scheme to repatriate immigrants and their offspring.

The fact that we make these recommendations should not be looked upon as a condemnation of coloured people, still less their children. They cannot be blamed for being here and we wish them no harm. But we believe that our solution is the only one, and that it will ultimately be in the best interests of all concerned.

So New Frontier makes this urgent appeal to the politicians of all parties and to all men and women of good will who are able to exert any influence on policy makers: FOR GOD'S SAKE WAKE UP! STOP IMMIGRATION AND START REPATRIATION.

NOT RACIAL

The riots were not racial,
As anyone could see;
So do not blame the Government
And please do not blame me!

It's all so very irksome,
It makes me quite irate
That anyone should dare oppose
The multiracial state!

We brought Blacks here to please you;
We thought that you'd agree;
Then you could all enjoy the fruits
Of racial harmony.

WHAT WE STAND FOR

- The return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- A government that will put British interests first.
- British withdrawal from the European Common Market.
- Closer links with the White Commonwealth.
- Protection of British industry by the exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from Britain.
- A sane financial system which will give to the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The revival of British farming.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- A clamp-down on social security spongers and the restoration of the incentive to work.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British support of the Whites in South Africa.
- An end to financial aid to black dictatorships.
- The strengthening of Britain's defences.
- Tougher treatment of criminals.
- The banning of the IRA, the death penalty for terrorists and firm support of the Loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- Repeal of the laws permitting Abortion and Homosexuality and a general toughening up of legislation against the promotion of obscenity in the media.
- The elimination of Communism in Britain, in the mass media, in the factory and in the schoolroom.
